Andover, Mass.. The writer has been admitted a member of the Institution (Andover Theological Seminary) and is entirely supported. All external circumstances are pleasant and he has a most agreeable and pious room-mate. Mr. Justin Edwards was ordained "over the church in this place," the sermon being given by the Rev. Professor Moses Stewart (Stuart?). At the exercises the writer's friend Mr. Fitch was taken with a bleeding of the lungs, and there is little prospect of his recovery.

The writer approves of the addressee's suggestion that the Abolitionists pass a resolution expressing sympathy with the movement of English Abolitionists to do away with oppression in British India. The writer considers Charles T. Torrey an object of pity, and is satisfied that only an extract of Torrey's letter to him was published in the Liberator. The published extract from the writer's letter bore internal evidence that he had received such a letter (Torrey's), "for that extract was written on purpose to ascertain more fully his treacherous movements." Encloses a statement from the Rev. Daniel H. Babcock.

Ashburnham, Mass.: The writer is worried about the Convention because of "the controversy which is going on in the City." Comments on the need for unity among Abolitionists. Asks where one can get "the appeal to the women of the nominal free states." They have had a very interesting lecture from Angelina E. Grimké on September 12th. Inquires if the Moral Reform Society in Boston is an auxiliary of the A M R (American Moral Reform?) Society in New York, and where the Illuminator is circulated.

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

Ashburnham, Mass.. The writer has been requested to invite the addressee to Ashburnham "to give us something that will start us right on the subject of Anti-Slavery." Most of those who professed to be Anti-Slavery in Ashburnham have gone over to C. T. Torrey. The female societies in the town "run very low," mainly because of the "confounded woman question." Wishes to have something said in regard to the merits of the Golden Rule Association. Dwells at length on the local opposition to women's acting in the same society with men. The writer would also like to have something said on Non-Resistance; reflects on the inconsistency of professed Christians toward this principle.

	To the Secretaries of the American Anti-Slavery Society

Athol, Mass.. The writer names the towns in Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island where he has lectured. Expects to be on a lecture tour through Vermont and New Hampshire. Declares; "There must be a new organization in this state, and I believe we are about ripe for it." The writer estimates nine-tenths of the Methodist influence as favoring a new state society. "Garrison's peculiar notions are corrupting the cause and the sooner the lines are drawn around him, the better." The writer hopes that the present state society will cease its connections with the American society and that the new society will take its place. The writer was highly pleased with the stand taken by James G. Birney and Lewis Tappan at.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations (1) for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β . It is shown that the system has solutions for all values of the parameters α and β if the function $f(x)$ is continuous and has a bounded derivative.

	To Rev. Samuel May Jr.	No.52

Hyannis, Mass.. The writer says he has forsaken the pulpit for the Abolitionist cause. Resents Rev. May's admonitions. Refers again to the discrepany between Oliver Johnson's characterization of Dr. George B. Cheever and the opinion of him expressed by Wendell Phillips. Says Cheever is not an Abolitionist.

Feltonsville, Mass.. The writer, after reflecting on the vanity of military glory, points out that the Bible is God's book on "Right and Wrong in the World" and that a book on "Right and Wrong in Massachusetts" necessarily infringes upon the veracity of God. The writer believes the millenium will begin in 1841, but the earth will remain as it is. Comments

Beverly (Mass.). The writer's mother (Mrs. Louisa Loring) intended to send the enclosed ten dollars for her subscription to the Liberty Bell, "but has been prevented by a serious illness from which she has been suffering for the last fortnight..." The writer, believing that the worst has passed, hopes, if her mother continues to improve, to come to Boston and assist at the fair during the first two or three days. The writer gives information about certain articles connected with the fair. Mattie Griffith was to stay with the Lorings at their town house, and the writer trusts that the addressee will be able to find some other place where she can stay.

To Martha V. and Lucy M. Ball,

"Boston? The writer assures the addressees of her regret at the painful position they were placed in by the wrong course of my friend Mrs. Southwick, in inviting them to my house as abolitionists ...". The writer, constrained by a sense of duty, rebuked Mrs. Southwick, and also told her that it was wrong to make the addressees suffer by communicating the rebuke.

A.L.S. 3 p. 7 3/4 x 4 7/8 in.

Apparently a rough draft, with corrections and deletions.

To the Philadelphia Female Anti-Slavery Society

No.5b

«Boston?». A rough draft of an answer to a letter and resolutions respecting the "unhappy dissensions" sent by the addressee. The writer accuses the board members of the Boston Female Anti-Slavery Society, who appeared to be "united in spirit with the clerical appeal," and stresses the duty of resisting wrong and treachery in the Society. "A grand cause of your darkness & want of information on this subject has been the course of the Pennsylvania Freeman."

A.L. 6 p. 9 1/8 x 7 1/2 in. & 10 x 7 5/8 in.

Incomplete. The last leaf contains other fragments not relevant to the letter. The recto contains a rough draft of an appeal for a petition to Congress to call a convention to pass an amendment protecting fugitive slaves. The verso contains part of "A Hymn to the God of Tempests" and two names of Non-Resistant subscribers.

«Boston. The writer reports on a Board meeting of the Mass. Anti-Slavery Society. Refers to "this political vexation with the crack in the Whig party." The Committee for the Anti-Slavery fair request their friends to sign a petition of Francis Jackson and ninety-nine others to the City government, which has refused them the hall they want. The writer attended the West Roxbury sewing circle and spent the night at the house of Mrs. Sarah B. Shaw. W. Phillips and Buffum have agreed to address a meeting in Amory Hall on the English and American aspects of the cause. Dr. (John) Bowring has sent a piece for the Liberty Bell. H. I. Bowditch's vigilance committee raised $800.

Melodeon, Boston. The writer relates in detail the moves following upon the receipt, by Mrs. Wendell Phillips, of the card of Mrs. Charles Dickens with a letter from the Phillips' friend, Mrs. Reed of London, commending Mrs. Dickens to Mrs. Phillips. Mary Gray Chapman and Wendell Phillips called on the "Bozzes," Henry G. and Maria W. Chapman will call today, and the plan is to give them a party. The writer describes the annual meeting of the Mass. Anti-Slavery Society. Mentions Mrs. Abigail Folsom's "ranting speech," James C. Fuller spoke very well, Colonel Miller (of Vermont) "is the most violent of 3d party." The closing meeting gave great satisfaction, with speeches by Wendell Phillips, E. G. Loring, •Boston. The writer gives "a little sketch" of her experiences from Monday morning to Friday evening. Has been sick all the week, and her lungs are very weak. Gives brief news of acquaintances. Tells of exposing to Samuel J. May "the conduct of the peelers," and relates an incident about John E. Fuller, who told his host in a South Shore town that Garrison "believed in a plurality of wives & annulled the marriage institution." Fuller, denying to May that he had made this statement, was confronted by Wendell Phillips, with the remark; "You said the same thing to me." The writer reports some controversies in Anti-Slavery affairs. Tells of an audience assembled at Marlboro Chapel to hear H. B. Stanton, who failed to appear because the weather was too bad. The writer has had calls from Wendell Phillips, John A. Collins, and "a young Cyrus Moses, Burleigh in comparison with whom Charles Callistus Burleigh is a Chesterfield." "They say that Parker Pillsbury is doing great things"... "John A. Collins is a perfect jewel." Mrs. Maria W. Chapman "has had the ineffable pleasure of diddling a Rev. Mr. Goodyear of Ashburnham who was we suppose sent a fishing by Phelps." Law-is Tappan told the Rev. Mr. Bigelow(?) of Rochester that "he had cut loose from Garrison." Collins thought Deborah very well and happy (in New Bedford) though in her letters "poor Deborah only seemed to realize her misery." Continues Abolition news. "Collins will bring the term 'peeler' into general use." The writer calls on Mrs. Angelina Ammidon Howe; "she has gone by the board and wrong at the meeting-& was almost spiteful at the Massachusetts Soc." Mentions an "ex-

«Boston. They are sending Lizzy to Mrs. Weston to make her a visit with the hope that the latter will reform her, "for all her relatives in town pronounce her totally unbearable." Tells of an invitation from Mrs. Tarbell, the other guests being Mr. & Mrs. Convers Francis, Annie Thaxter, and the Aspinwalls. Has received a "20 dollar application today" and will then have 23 scholars in all. Mr. Graupner, the music master has offered to give Lucia and Emma music lessons; they will accept only for Lucia. Gives messages for the aunts Mary, Priscilla and Phoebe. Asks in a postscript; "send some violets the first chance."

Boston. The writer discusses expected visits and plans. She was determined to go to the annual meeting; "I took the bits in mouth & came here with Linfield Friday afternoon, notwithstanding I was obliged to take anti-slavery money to pay my passage." She has lived by prudence in affairs long enough and will try the other tack and see how she will come out. Deborah's mother asks two or three times each week how long she has been gone. Her mother's health is as good or better than at Thanksgiving. The writer must get the petitions ready on her return; 248 Weymouth, 130 Braintree; she "labored like a dog to get them." Her society held no quarterly meetings because she was not at home to make it go. By March 26 she will take measures to make them pledge some-
